

SPARE PARTS & OTHER NEWS

Technical report by Rob Little

I would like to start this month with some recently gleaned clues from fellow members.

If you have a traction with the later pancake type air cleaner and the old element is in need of replacement, you can use Ryco part number A131. This is the right height and just needs to be squeezed into a slight oval shape to do the job. This information was courtesy of Barry Solomon from Ulladulla who was having trouble with rust in the original filter cage, particles were getting into the carburettor bowl and blocking the idle jet!